4. You must submit all FSA claims by the last day of the specified run-off period of the following year for expenses incurred during the plan year. Any money remaining in your account after the end of the plan year will be forfeited under Internal Revenue Service (IRS) guidelines.

Dependent Care Reimbursement

- Expenses to provide care for your eligible dependents may qualify for reimbursement. Eligible dependents include children under age 13, a disabled child, a disabled spouse, or a disabled parent for whom you are entitled to a personal tax exemption as a dependent.
- To be eligible, you must be working while your dependents receive care. Also, if you are married, your spouse must be:
 - A wage earner, or
 - A full-time student for at least five months during the year, or
 - Disabled and unable to provide for his or her own care.
- Expenses eligible for reimbursement are those incurred to enable you to be gainfully employed, and include covered charges by:
 - Licensed nursery schools and day care centers.
 - Individuals (other than your dependents under age 19) who provide care for your children in or outside your home, or for your disabled spouse or dependent parent in your home.
 - Housekeepers, maids or cooks in your home, to include their food and lodging in your home, as long as their services are performed for the benefit of your eligible dependent(s).
- Under IRS regulations, the reimbursement when aggregated with all other dependent care reimbursement during the same year may not exceed the lesser of the following limits:
 - 1) $5,000
 - 2) $2,500 if you are married and your spouse files a separate tax return
 - 3) If you are single, your taxable compensation
 - 4) If married, the lesser of your earned income or your spouse's earned income for the year
- IRS regulations limit the amount of reimbursement expenses for dependent care to the lower of the annual earned income of you or your spouse. If your spouse is disabled or a full-time student, this limitation assumes that your spouse earns $200 per month (one dependent) or $400 per month (two or more dependents). Under IRS regulations, qualified individuals can receive a tax credit for some dependent care costs. You may claim this credit on your personal tax return. You cannot claim the tax credit for any dependent care costs reimbursed from the FSA, since FSA funds are pre-tax withholdings.
